This is a photo of a poor child who is very sensitive, unlike many other children. He very easily gets hurt inside his heart.

I feel very sorry when I see such (healthy) corn plants, because I miss my parents at home. I missed my old days that I and my parents planted corn together, and looked at the corn growing. I can't help myself wanting to go back to home when I see such things. And I really miss eating corn from my home garden.
